Declares That Road Will Not Compromise With the Foremen.

Superintendent G. S. Waid, of the El Paso division of the G. H., stated Saturday morning that he had received a report from Del Rio that all of the 18 section foremen positions between Del Rio and Sanderson were filled. This is the district on which the road has had the most trouble. Enough men and some to spare have been sent to the Sanderson-Valentine district to fill all the vacancies there, said Mr. Waid. Investigation is being made at Sanderson today into the matter of Mexicans sent to Sanderson by the G. H., and who are said to Sanderson to have illegally entered the United States.

STORIES OF THE DIAMOND.

By BILL DAHLEN.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

Very few people, except those who possess inside knowledge, are familiar with the trials of a manager of a major league ball team and with what he has to contend. Let me tell you, a manager's path is not strewn with roses; but, on the contrary, it is a position beset with tribulations, of sleepless nights and of hopes often unfulfilled, particularly when conducting the affairs of a losing club. The fans will not stand for a persistent loser, and the team which is unable to make a fairly good showing in the pennant race soon loses support and is termed "lemons," "clunks," "dubs" and "has-beens," and the leader of such a club is set down in the same class.

In the present day baseball game the manager is the man who has to stand or fall. It's up to him as far as the public goes. And yet how many of the fans who go to ball games know or even care who the manager of a team is as long as it continues to win? But if it loses—wow! Then the manager gets it, and gets it good and plenty. The fans only blame the manager. They forget there is an owner behind the manager, who may be more to blame than he.

In order to be a successful manager in the major leagues today one must possess a large amount of gray matter, up to date ideas and knowledge of the intricate points of play. Not only must he have a full understanding of the game, but he must be able to instill the knowledge into the heads of the players comprising his team. The majority of the leaders in the big leagues today have knowledge of the game through practical experience and active participation as players. In following the game day in and day out all of its scientific features are presented to them. Almost every day the plays that are pulled off are the result of deep study and mature meditation.

One of the big woes of a manager is the daily advice of patrons who by word of mouth and numerous letters insist upon telling him how the team should be run. Of course this advice is thankfully received and immediately followed—n't. If these fans had their way changes in the team would be made every day and new players would be coming in by the train load.

The hardest part of a manager's work lies in the selection of his team, weeks and months being spent in scouring the country for promising material. If out of a half dozen selections one real diamond star is discovered the manager considers himself very lucky, for the ratio of young players making good in fast company is only one in six.

In the spring, when reporting time arrives, the manager awakens to the fact that his troubles are to commence. With twenty or thirty players from which to select a regular team his work is cut out for him, and he passes days of anxiety and suspense. After many trials his choice is made. Those who have not displayed the requisite speed are returned to the minors. The manager is filled with hope and fear. If his team starts in a rut and everything breaks badly he knows that he will pass a season of discontent and become the target of abuse. His hours will be full of unrest and devoid of pleasure.

Then the fans will submit hundreds of letters telling him of the players that he should get, many of whom could not be secured for love or money. When he is recognized on the streets he is met with sour looks and coldly greeted. Then perhaps some one will hurl the questions at him: "Why don't you do this?" "Why don't you do that?" "What do you mean by letting the team go to the dogs?" "Are you trying to kill the game?"

While the manager feels like soaking the interrogator he is forced to smile s. sickly smile and work his thought tank in an endeavor to pacify the irate fan. While sitting on the players' bench he may have to listen to such expressions as these: "Bum team," "They're rotten," "Punk," "Rank aggregation" and "Get a new manager." After listening to these comforting words for a couple of hours each day the pilot of the team is thankful when darkness envelops the land and he can retire in restful slumber.

A manager's berth in the major leagues is no sinecure. It may continue for one or a dozen years, according to the measure of success attained, and the incumbent is always on easy street. In that capacity one may be worthy of a medal today, the tin can tomorrow. The fans are prone to applaud the successful and heap coils of fire on the heads of the unfortunate. A baseball manager is up today and down tomorrow.

STATEHOOD PASSES IN A RUSH

Washington, D. C., June 18.—The statehood bill was passed in a rush this morning.

As soon as the statehood bill was laid before the house there were demands for a vote without discussion. Representative Lloyd, of Missouri, asked for a minute in which to say he was not wholly satisfied with the senate bill, but in order to promptly insure statehood for Arizona and New Mexico, he said he was ready for a vote.

Representative Hamilton, of Michigan, moved to concur in the senate amendments.

"Vote, vote, vote," cried a hundred members from either side of the house. With only a few minutes devoted to further debate, the senate amendments were agreed to unanimously by a viva voce vote.

HERALD AT HOME A YEAR.
The Herald building is a year old. One year ago Sunday, June 13, The Herald's editorial, business and mechanical departments were moved bag and baggage from the old quarters in the Mills building into the spacious new quarters which afford the present home.

CURRENT SPORT EVENTS

Philadelphia and Baltimore rowing associations want to hold this year's middle states regatta on Labor day.

Johnny Hayes, the famous Marathon runner, contemplates touring South Africa and Australia. Dorando, the Italian, is going to South America.

F. E. Beaupaire, the present Australian swimming champion, has arrived in London for the season of swimming in Europe. He may visit America.

The Ottawa (Canada) Rowing club is expecting a sectional eight oared shell from Europe, which they will use in the Canadian and American national championships.

George Bonhag, the middle distance runner, will race against Jack Tait, the Canadian, in a one mile race match at a big open athletic meet at Ottawa May 24, Victoria day.

The Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Racing association has allotted the following dates: Toronto, May 20 to 28, July 28 to Aug. 6; Montreal, June 2 to 11, Sept. 8 to 27; Hamilton, June 16 to 23, Aug. 11 to 20; Fort Erie, June 30 to July 9, Sept. 22 to Oct. 1; Windsor July 14 to 23, Aug. 27 to Sept. 5.

DIAMOND CHIRPS.

Bobby Byrne, the Pittsburg's third sacker, is hitting 'em "where they ain't." He is running the bases like a deer and playing a great all around game.

President Tom Lynch would make no mistake to put several so called wits who are seen on the National league coaching lines in the same class as the photographers.

Manager George Stallings of the New York Americans has picked up a Jewel in Harry Wolter, the Boston Red Sox discard. Wolter surely looks like an altogether different player than when he wore one of John I. Taylor's uniforms.

Baseball teams with inconsistencies. The managers seek pitchers who can't be hit and batters who can hit any pitcher. They also hunt catchers who can throw to bases with such speed and accuracy that base runners can't steal and speed boys who can steal on any catcher.

It looks more and more as if the spitball has been the undoing of Ed Walsh, the Chicago Americans' star pitcher. Until last season he was the terror of the American league. He rounded to form late in the summer of 1909. This spring he has been troubled with a lame arm that has failed to yield to treatment.

Beckley Out of League Baseball. "Old Eagle Eye" Jake Beckley has passed out of league baseball after a continuous service of more than twenty-three years. The veteran first baseman was given his unconditional release by Danny Shay, manager of the Kansas City American association team.

Beckley took his release philosophically. He says he will remain in Kansas City and possibly play with a semi professional team.

Beckley is forty-eight years old, and for twenty years, until 1909, he played in the major leagues. His last year was with the St. Louis National league team in 1909. In 1907 he joined the American association team and that year led the league in batting, hitting .338.

Jennings Wants Kleinow. Hughie Jennings, it is said, wants to get Jack Kleinow from New York. What Jennings wants to do with the veteran is not apparent. Still, Jack ought to have a lot of good baseball left at that.

Arguing With Umps a Waste of Time. Ball players who bother their heads about the decisions of umpires belong to the "solid ivory" class.

DEATH OF MRS. J. A. MAHLER.
A letter has been received in El Paso from John A. Mahler, who formerly conducted a dancing school here, stating that his wife had died at Auburn, Ala., on June 14, of typhoid pneumonia.

You'll be surprised at the results you will get from a small want, rent or for sale ad in The Herald. Will not cost more than 25c to 50c. phone Bell 115, Auto 1115 and tell the girl.

Substitutes Are Dangerous

Beware of Imitations, Substitutes and "just as good as."

Unscrupulous dealers, mindful only of their profit and caring nothing for the health of their patrons, are offering for sale low grade mixtures, which they tell you are "as good as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey."

Some go so far as to try to make you believe it is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. These cheap concoctions are foisted on the people with the intent to deceive.

When a remedy has been before the public for more than half a century, has been prescribed and used by the best doctors and in prominent hospitals, and has carried the blessing of health into so many thousands of homes as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitations are bound to arise. They may imitate the bottle and label only—no one can imitate the contents.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

has been used with remarkable results in the treatment and cure of all throat, lung and stomach troubles and all wasting and diseased conditions.

It is sold in sealed bottles only. The Old Chemist's Head is on the label and over the cork is an engraved seal. Be certain this seal is unbroken. Sold by druggists, grocers, dealers or direct $1.00 a large bottle.
